

AP Psychology Grade Dates Spring 2012

January – May 07, 2012

This sheet outlines grades that will be taken on the following dates. This does not include EVERY grade that will be taken in class; there will be daily grades taken on Cornell Notes, the Psychology News Journal as well as quizzes or other daily grades to supplement this list.

You are expected to be prepared to take the test on the dates below regardless of how much information we cover in class. I will post all the notes for the tests on my website the day before the test so you can review them.

If you haven't started using the Myers Psychology Website yet, I would advise you to start doing so now. There is a ton of information on that site that is all bent around putting you in position to do well in this class and on the AP Exam.
